WESTERN MARYLAND OFFICIALS
RECEIVE A HEARTY WELCOMEFrom Chamber of Commerce and Guests Numbering Three Hundred Who Attend Banquet at the Armory.

THE NEW ROAD PROMISES MUCH

For Connellville and Officials Express
Said That Entrance of the Western Maryland Will Attract New Industries—Work of Chamber of Commerce Praised.

A year of success and progress was celebrated at the second annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce in the Armory last night at which time an occasion was afforded to entertain the officials of the Western Maryland Railway, which is building to Connellville and which within another year expects to have its trains running between Connellville and the east. By the time another year rolls around and the third annual banquet is held it will be possible for the Chamber of Commerce to again entertain these same officials, and many others besides, and congratulate them upon the completion of the important connecting link which will connect the Atlantic seaboard and the Great Lakes by another trunk line.

The exceptionally successful work of the past 12 months and the bright future of the future promises were discussed in a most happy vein by a number of those present. An era of good feeling between Connellville and the officials of the new railroad was inaugurated. There was but one disappointment, the failure of President H. P. Bush, General Manager of the Western Maryland Railway, to be present. It is a great temptation to break these laws in order to benefit this city.

"After hearing the report of your Secretary I cannot help but feel most keenly the possibilities for results from cooperation," said "teamwork" among you. That means there is a great deal to be accomplished and I expect that in the future this city will be foremost among the manufacturing centers of the United States.

"It is pleasing to the Western Maryland officials to realize that within a period of one year that road will be an integral part of the city of Connellville and will contribute towards its success. Today you have the railroad and very soon the Western Maryland will contribute to success in the future. We are yours to command and we will obey."

I got along well with Brother Henderson and his aid the Western Maryland was ours to command," said "Teamwork" Higgins. "When we are ordered to do it we will do it. I am glad to be here for he is the one we want to know when we go after his fishing facilities. We will hear from Mr. T. G. Stanley."

Mr. Stanley quoted old Judge Collier who said "show me the fruitfulness of speech" and explained that the Western Maryland men make speeches they have one made to him and put a cylinder in Colonel Gallagher. Mr. Stanley then humorously referred to the headlines he read in the Courier of yesterday. He explained that he is so busy gathering in the checks to pay for the new road he did not have time to prepare a speech. He said, however, that when he came back looking for business he wants to get some of that welcome from the business men here.

Teamwork Higgins then introduced General Passenger Agent P. M. Howell who stated that he had a spot picked out in one of the prettiest mountain sections he hoped some day would be called the Connellville colony. He called attention to the beautiful view along the Western Maryland where there are summer hotels and estate communities. He further expressed the hope that when he meets the Connellville business men again that it will be on the historic field of Gettysburg, one of the greatest of all attractive places along the system.

"The passenger development of the Western Maryland," Mr. Howell continued, "is a matter for the future. We will make this pledge, however, that as far as possible we will advocate a train service satisfactory to this distinguished body of guests and know it will suit the people of Connellville. We will have a good passenger bus, something for myself and my associates I assure you we appreciate the warm and hearty reception and we want to give you, sometime, a good old Maryland welcome."

Mr. Howell paid a neat tribute to the ladies who served the banquet. He commended Higgins as the master of the evening. Attorney Higginson, who had the regret of the absent officials, extended the glad hand of welcome to the visiting railroaders and called the audience to applaud in acknowledging them not to boast or lord it over our neighboring communities up the branch, despite the fact that we are the only city in Western Pennsylvania, except Pittsburgh, that is on three railroads and two of them connect them. He then introduced the distinguished Commissioner Austin Gallagher, who read a paper on "A Still Greater Connellville," which is published on the sixth page of this issue of the Courier.

"I have had considerable advantage over most of you," resumed the Commissioner, "in the close of the year, 'in making the larger acquaintance of two gentlemen beside me. One has the name and confession he is of the blood of a great statesman who came from Indiana, and I have become so much attached to him I can almost guarantee his politics. I wish to introduce Mr. John T. Hendricks, President Traffic Manager of the Western Maryland."

"I heard the report of your Secretary," began Mr. Hendricks, "with great interest and it is most pleasing and awe inspiring to be brought in such close contact with the busy men who are the backbone and backbone of a busy city like Connellville. Especially in this era when this city is the role of the Western Maryland. This will be the terminus of our line and the most attractive place upon it because freight to and from Connellville will be the best producer of revenue possible. There are some very important manufacturing cities along our line but there is none so well as more for than Connellville or look for better results indeed, I would be willing to try in the face of that great being which is over us in order to favor Connellville. Of course you know I refer to the Interstate Commerce Commission. It is a great temptation to break these laws in order to benefit this city."

"After hearing the report of your Secretary I cannot help but feel most keenly the possibilities for results from cooperation," said "teamwork" among you. That means there is a great deal to be accomplished and I expect that in the future this city will be foremost among the manufacturing centers of the United States.

DR. F. A. COOK CONFESSES
IN A MAGAZINE STORYThat He Does Not Know Whether He Was at the North Pole—Far North Is the Country of Insanity,
Discredited Explorer Says.

United Press Telegram.
NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Dr. F. A. Cook has confessed. This announcement was made today by Benjamin Thompson, editor of the magazine, who paid $50,000 for Cook's story of his trip to the North Pole. In his own story, the first installment of which will appear in the January number of the magazine, Dr. Cook frankly admits that he does not know whether he reached the North Pole. This man who has been alternately lauded as the greatest explorer and denounced as the most colossal liar, says:

"Did I get to the North Pole? Perhaps I made a mistake in thinking I did. Perhaps I did not make a mistake. After mature thought I confess that I do not know absolutely whether I reached the Pole. This may come as a surprising statement, but I am willing to state the world if by doing I can get an opportunity to present my case. I am not a liar. I mean that my case is so straightforward, so clear, but my case as a man. It is a story of isolation and hunger, he believed that he reached the Pole; he is a liar. Then I shall be satisfied. Dr. Cook's story is the far North is a region of insanity where one cannot believe the evidence gathered by his own eyes."

STOLE WHISKEY;
SOLD IT ON OVENS.Result Is Men Face Burgess
Evans Following Raid
Made Last Night.

TWO WILL BE PROSECUTED

Strong Evidence Was Presented
Against Them and County Detective
McLaughlin Will Make the Informations—Others Are Held.

The theft of a case of whiskey from the Kelly Hotel yesterday resulted in a raid on the coke ovens last night by Special Officer Thomas C. Phillips of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and Deputy Constable C. J. Miller of Connellville. As a consequence 11 men were arrested before Burgess Evans this morning and etiquette on the coke ovens was delineated to a certain extent. The officers learned, as the result of the hearings, that it is decidedly bad form to recall the identity of the party who presses a bottle around. Neither is it polite to refuse a proffered drink. Sidelights on how to live cheaply were also flashed.

County Detective Frank McLaughlin, who was in charge of the raid, said that he had found a quantity of broken bottles in the coke ovens. He said that he had found a quantity of broken bottles in the coke ovens. He said that he had found a quantity of broken bottles in the coke ovens.

The men told varying and conflicting stories. Most of them admitted they had no real home; some had been on the ovens several days and others but a few hours. When pressed for an explanation as to how they existed, some admitted begging it back doors. Of the crowd in police court this morning all found the West Side the most profitable stopping ground.

Thomas Green, tall and angular, with a pair of blacked eyes and a badly battered forehead, said his regular home is in Buffalo, N. Y. He denied being on the road most of the time and there was a look of indignation in his face when he was accused of appearing in police court here a year ago. Green said there must be a mistake about that. Green said he got a drink of alcohol from a Hungarian on the yards. He said there was all kinds of whiskey in the crowd but he didn't get any of it. Asked if sober when he got off the ovens, Green said he was paralyzed. White, not having any of the whiskey, he said he took a drink every time the bottle was passed. He was held and will be sent up for vagrancy.

Thomas Smith, a negro, said he had $5 when he came on the yards two weeks ago and has been living on that since. It happened that Burgess Evans saw Smith on the yards over a month ago and the negro finally admitted he had been dividing his time between this place and Scottdale since that time. He was also held.

Charles Hill, a crippled negro, gave evidence that he purchased whiskey from Grayford, who denied the charge. Of the 11 prisoners, three were discharged and the others held pending a further investigation. Informations will be made against Grayford and Connors by County Detective McLaughlin.

About 15 witnesses will testify to having received three pecks for a bushel.

CAN SHOP IN CONNELLVILLE

Train Will Start From Jones' Mills in the Morning and Make Two Trips. The Service, However, Will Not Be Permanent.

Residents of the Indian Creek valley and the country adjacent are to have an opportunity to do their Christmas shopping in Connellville. The management of the Indian Creek Valley railroad will put four trains a day on the schedule. The first train will leave Jones' Mills in the morning in time to make connection with the first westbound accommodation train from Cumberland, No. 57. In the evening the train will return to Mill town after the eastbound accommodation, No. 56 reaches Indian Creek. This will give residents from the mountain country an opportunity to put in practically a full day in Connellville. They can leave home at a reasonable hour in the morning and be home in good time for supper.

In the past, Christmas and for that matter nearly all other shopping, has been done by the people living in the Indian Creek valley and country now served by the Indian Creek Valley railroad, in Mount Pleasant. All their marketing is also done there, aside from that traded in at the mountain stores. The trip to Mount Pleasant is a rather hard one, but better than a journey by wagon to Connellville.

In the country, famed by the Indian Creek Valley there is a population of upwards of 2,000 people. The trade is worth going after and it is understood local merchants will make a bid for it since the railroad company has announced a special schedule for the Christmas shopping. Besides the little towns at Mill Run, Rogers' Mills and Jones' Mills, people from Normalville now take the train to Connellville, it being but a short mile from the town to the station. In addition, within a radius of ten miles on either side of the valley towards the headwaters, the farmers now journey in to the railroad and take it into Connellville to transact their business instead of making the wearisome drive to Mt. Pleasant.

Passenger traffic on the Indian Creek valley has increased more than 50 per cent this fall and approaching winter over what it was a year ago, a fact that determined the management to try the four train schedule during the holiday season.

Jem Mace, Fighter,
Takes Final Count

LONDON, Nov. 30.—(Special.)—Jem Mace, the noted old English fighter, died today.

Mace was at one time England's greatest pugilist and as he himself termed it, made barrels of money in the ring. Despite this he died almost poverty stricken and about a year ago was obliged to apply for a public old age pension of five shillings a week. Mace was born in 1841 and for years before his death enjoyed the reputation of being the oldest living pugilist.

He picked himself up being the one man that the game hadn't killed. It is almost a life-long fight to mental and physical fitness of the boxer's habit.

Topic of Present Importance.

Personal health is and should be one of the greatest considerations of life, and as so many local people are suffering from the new remedy, Root Juice, it is not surprising that so many of the afflicted people of this country are so eager to talk about it and get all of the information they can in relation to the many remarkable cures it has made and is making. It invariably proves a great and agreeable surprise to weak, nervous, dyspeptic, constipated people, for after using it for a short while the appetite, hearing and tone of the system of the sufferer are removed from the influence of the stomach, bowels and bladder, and the result is the free and healthy condition of the body and mind, resulting in a good appetite, food will digest, bowels regular, good, rich blood free from humors, and it soon nourishes and strengthens the whole nervous system.

The people at the drug store are proud of the wonderful merits of Root Juice and gladly tell all interested of much of the great good it is doing here through C. O. A. drug store.

WEDNESDAY EVE'G, NOV. 30, 1910.

CONNELLSVILLE'S
COKE BUSINESS.

The reorganized Chamber of Commerce fully rounded out its first year of effort by a warm welcome to the officers of the Western Maryland railway which is soon to become one of our principal trunk lines. The feast of reason and flow of soul was bedecked with oratorical bouquets grateful to the senses of the guests and the hosts and not without promise of substantial comforts yet to come.

But we protest against the assumption of the principal Western Maryland spokesmen, and its practical echo on the part of the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, that the coke industry, to borrow the language of the eloquent Western Maryland orator, has PASSED ITS zenith in and around Conneltsville, and that we must LOOK TO OTHER THINGS FOR THE FUTURE.

We endorse the advice and urge it upon the people of Conneltsville, not for the first time, either; but we seriously object to the fashion of putting Conneltsville, not only OUT OF THE CENTER OF THE COKE INDUSTRY, BUT OUT OF IT ALTOGETHER. There is no foundation for this assumption, but it is a fact that it will be accepted as a fact if left uncontradicted.

It is about time that the citizens of Conneltsville, and the people and the press of other communities not over a dozen miles distant, were given to understand that it is the judgment of expert representatives of the mining and coking industry of the Conneltsville region that THE COAL AREA BETWEEN CONNELLSVILLE AND UNIONTOWN WILL BE MAKING COKE AFTER THE COAL AREA BETWEEN UNIONTOWN AND THE MONONGAHELA RIVER SHALL HAVE BEEN EXHAUSTED.

The Dunbar township coal is known as the best coal of the Conneltsville coke region, and it is conceded generally that no better coking coal anywhere exists. The active operations are almost wholly in the hands of furnace interests, and they are in no feverish hurry to work them out. They don't have to; they are not burdened with pressing financial obligations like some of the merchant operators. They are in a position to sit down upon this coal whenever they feel like it, and in some measure they have done so on occasions when it WAS CHEAPER TO BUY CONNELLSVILLE COKE THAN TO MAKE IT.

Conneltsville is building for the future, not the future of next week or next month or next year, not the future of a decade alone, but the future of the century to come. AND FROM THIS VIEWPOINT ALONE THE REMARKS CONCERNING THE DECADENCE OF THE COKE BUSINESS WITHIN THE RADIIUS OF CONNELLSVILLE ARE EXCUSABLE. IF THE YOUNG OF CONNELLSVILLE'S COKE business has passed its zenith, it has not passed it far; and IT'S A LONG DISTANCE DOWN THE OTHER SLOPE, AND KASY GOING, TOO.

THE GOOD WORK OF OUR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

We have had occasion a number of times during the past year to call attention to the good work being done by the Chamber of Commerce, and we present in another column the review of that work for the past year epitomized by the efficient secretary of that body.

It is a record of which the people of Conneltsville as well as the officers of the chamber may well be proud. It stamps that island as a city that does things. Its progressive business men live a habit of bucking now enterprises with cold cash instead of hot air.

The Chamber of Commerce has made an excellent beginning, but its administration should highly resolve that it is only a beginning that has been made, and that with a bigger town soon to be a city, greater transportation facilities and a broader field to exploit, there is room for still greater improvements in the future.

The experience of the Chamber of Commerce is also valuable. Its officers are better fitted than ever to successfully accomplish its aims. We will not expect them to cover the suburbs with how industries in their expansion is driven to cover by financial depression, nor merely to grasp the opportunities that knock at our door, but we will hope to see them go out into the busy world and be for new business with all the energy and alertness of an aggressive candidate seeking votes in a doubtful district.

Above all, the Chamber of Commerce should not lose sight of its mission in a cloud of sentimental subjects better suited to women's clubs and ladies' aid societies.

THE INDIAN CREEK
RAILROAD SCHEDULE.

The holiday proposition of the Indian Creek Valley railroad, to run two trains each way daily during the holiday season, will be received with gratification by both the people of the valley and the business men of Conneltsville.

The train schedule of the Indian Creek Valley railroad as now arranged is suitable for people desiring to visit the valley, but not for valley people desiring to visit the town, and the Indian creek folks have more occasion to come to Conneltsville than the Conneltsville people have to go up the Indian creek valley.

It is to be hoped that the Interstate Commerce Commission, while they are regulating the railroads, will do a public service by getting the train clerks to speak English.

The Chamber of Commerce should take this matter up with the railroad people and see if the running order of their passenger service cannot be reversed, provided, of course, the company finds it profitable to continue the holiday schedule of two trains each way per day.

EARLY
CHRISTMAS SHOPPING.

Early Christmas shopping has been urged upon a thoughtless public through the columns of the press for several years past with some measure of success, but the vast majority of people continue largely through force of habit to put off this duty or pleasure, as the case may be, until the eleventh hour.

There are many reasons why the Christmas shopper should schedule and secure his or her Christmas presents as early as possible and not delay the matter until a day or two before the holidays. Among these reasons may be mentioned:

1. A better selection Christmas goods and novelties will soon be on sale, and by consulting the advertisements of merchants in the newspapers the buyer will know when and where to go to obtain the best assortment. Don't wait until the most attractive things are gone. Don't imagine the prices will be any cheaper, either; Christmas goods are never marked down until after Christmas.

2. Better service and greater comfort. Do your shopping before the stores are crowded, before they are in possession of a mad mob that crushes the buyer, while there is still time to be advised on and to make deliberate choice of what is wanted.

3. Consideration for the shopkeepers and their clerks. During the week before holidays store managers and clerks are compelled to work night and day to oblige their customers. Have some consideration, in the joyous Christmas tide, of the feelings of others. Don't be utterly selfish. Remember the spirit of the occasion.

Whether one has much or little to buy, wisdom and humanity suggest that the purchases be not delayed until the last moment.

SCHOOL TEACHERS
ENTITLED TO HOLIDAYS

The Scotland school authorities do not believe in holding the teachers' institutions on holidays, and neither do other just and reasonable directors. The institution is intended to be an entirely educational in character. It is not a frolic, but serious business for the teachers.

This being the case it is unfair to the teachers to deprive them of the holiday vacation. Teachers are human. They prefer to enjoy the holiday season as much as any other people, and they are just as much entitled to that enjoyment as any other people. Teachers' institutions should be held some other week than holiday week, and we can conceive of no reasonable reason why they should not be.

The United States Steel Corporation has adopted a pension system for all its employees. The plan is getting closer together than ever. It is useless to like. The trust movement will never stop until the whole country is merged. When that is done we will all be Socialists and perhaps glad of it because there will then be no room for Anarchists and even some Socialists will find it difficult to get jobs.

If Colonel Austin Gallagher ever gets out of a job, the Conneltsville Chamber of Commerce should at once engage his services as a press agent.

The Conneltsville coke business is at a low ebb, but the light is breaking. Rail orders are rolling in.

I Mulhill, convicted of robbing the dead in Westminster county, has asked for a new trial, and in view of the fact that the court charged in favor of the defense on the trial of this case the defendant will probably have another chance to prove that he did nothing untoward at the time primary.

It's no wonder Scotland succeeded. Every now and then some enterprising citizen builds another rail line, and they keep it in shape, too.

Be sure you're right and then bite some hardy man to do the job.

The Western Maryland officials seem to have a just appreciation of Conneltsville's natural advantages as an industrial center. Uniontown is the place copy.

SCOTSDALE MAN LOSES WINNER.

William Hipkiss' Hen Drew
First Prize in New York Show

BUT SHE NEVER CAME HOME

Valuable Bird Falls to Turn Up With Rest of Birds—Would Have Been
Feature at Scottdale's Coming Show
December 6-10.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, Nov. 20.—What would you think if you had a fine hen and sent her down to the New York Poultry Show and she won first prize—then you lost the hen, or someone stole her, or something? Anyway, you have a first prize winner and don't have her. That's the thing that is worrying William A. Hipkiss, who raised a fine bird in this town for his one of a big number here that fairly idolize the American hen. Brown Leghorns are Hipkiss' specialty and he has a daughter of "Brown Queen" that was never beaten in a show. He sent the daughter down to New York to the show held in Palace Garden last week and there the hen won first prize. In fact no bird had been placed, but the coop came back one short, the first prize winning hen not being in the coop. He has been making a great stir about it and the American Poultry Association will probably take the matter up and try to trace the valuable bird.

Secretary W. O. Shierick of the Scottdale Poultry and Pet Stock Association, which has a show in Scottdale beginning December 6, exhibited White Rocks at Somerset. He won first prize, second hen and fourth pullet. Andrew Hawthorne won first prize on his birds. A. V. Fawcett won second cockerel and third and fourth pullet on his White Rocks. Emmet Baker was there with S. C. White Leghorns and took second cockerel, and second, third and fourth pullet.

IMPRISONED MINERS

Rescued From Mine After Being Cut Off From Escape.

JOHNSTOWN, Nov. 20.—After working 10 hours, a party of miners rescued Antonio Alonzo and Joseph Pogayko, miners, who were imprisoned between two falls of coal in mine No. 1, of the South Fork Coal Company, at South Fork, 10 miles from here. The two miners were taken out of the mine shortly before 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon.

The Italian miners were working on the night shift. Last night, while working in a long room in the mine, two falls of coal cut off their exit from the mine. Later the coal falls were discovered and miners were sent to clear away the coal. One fall was over 50 feet. While the men were clearing away the coal they heard Alonzo and Pogayko calling for help. The miners were frightened when taken out of the mines, but they were not injured.

E. G. Nixley, formerly manager of the Belmont Hotel at Somerset, but now located at Lancaster, was calling on friends here today.

Wright of the railroad contracting firm of Reed & Wright, who have a large slice of Western Maryland work, and who had the unfortunate about ten days ago to have his leg broken and badly crushed, is reported getting along very nicely, though it will be some time until he will be able to resume oversight at the work.
